STEARNS's Almanack,
For the Year 1774,
To be Sold by EDES & GILL in Queen-Street, and T. & J. FLEET in Cornhill.

Messieurs PRINTERS,

BY Reason of my Retirement, I have not the Advantage of observing what passes among the prime Politicians, but cannot help taking Notice how often my Countrymen have been deluded with vain Expectations of Redress of their Grievances from the British Court. Every Session of Parliament for many Years past, it has been expected that something would have been done in Favour of the Colonies; likewise when a new Minister has been appointed, new Hopes have been raised, that he would be wiser than the former, and restore our Liberties; but how vain have been all those Expectations which were built upon the friendship of a few good men in England! No one can doubt but there are some good men in the two houses of parliament, but at the same time it must be extremely irrational in us to place any dependence upon them, for if they are not able to stop the progress of despotism in Britain, where they reside, we may not imagine they can restore the liberties of America. We know that the British parliament stands Impeached by its constituents; and that numerous petitions from the best part of the people in the kingdom have been presented to the throne for a dissolution of it; charging said parliament (and supporting their charge) with tyranny, and many flagrant violations of the rights and liberties of the people; and now what man in his senses will hope for the restoration of American liberties from such a parliament?——So much has been written upon the Rights of the Colonies, that no Man of Understanding is ignorantly transgressing against them; therefore Parliament has knowingly and deliberately trampled on the Liberties of America—and from such Men nothing is to be expected but continued Injuries. It is then evident if we have Relief, it must come from some other Quarter; it must result from the Union and determined Resolution of the Colonies; they must force their unjust Oppressors to comply with the Dictates of Reason. It will perhaps be readily granted that there is no Foundation to hope for Redress of our Grievances from Parliament; but the Question will be asked, How shall the Colonies force their Oppressors to proper Terms? This Question has been often answered already by our Politicians, viz. "Form an Independent State"—"An American Commonwealth."——This Plan has been proposed, and I can't find that any other is likely to answer the great Purpose of preserving our Liberties; I hope therefore it will be well digested and forwarded, to be in due Time put into Execution; unless our Political Fathers can secure American Liberties in some other Way. As the Population, Wealth and Power of this Continent are swiftly increasing, we certainly have no Cause to doubt of our Success in maintaining Liberty, by forming a Commonwealth; or whatever Measures Wisdom may point out for the Preservation of the Rights of America.

Evening School.

THE North Writing School will be opened next Monday Evening, to receive those who incline to be taught Reading, Writing and Arithmetic. Oct. 4.

A handsome black Saddle Mare, 6 Years old, Trots well, and carries herself well; to be Sold for want of Employ. Inquire of Edes & Gill.

By the Mercury Packet, Capt. Dillon; and the Captains Miller and Lawrence arrived at New-York from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

LONDON.

July 7. An evening paper, after premising that, previous to the presenting an address to his Majesty, a copy is usually sent for the King's inspection, says, that when the late address of the corporation of Portsmouth was returned by administration, a paragraph was inserted, couched in the strongest terms, conveying the severest reflections on the city of London, for the stand which it has made to administration. The corporation resented highly the great affront, and rejected the paragraph with the strongest marks of indignation. This gave rise to the reluctance with which Mr. Carter received the honour of knighthood; for it was only by the most pressing solicitations of his friends that he could be induced to accept it.

July 8. The hearing of the important American cause which was to have come on before the Privy Council as this day, is deferred till next week at the instigation of the Governor's Solicitor, who lodged the appeal from the report of the Lords of Trade.

Sunday morning a servant girl in the borough was to have been married to a journeyman taylor in the neighbourhood, when, O dire mischance! just as the happy couple were setting out for Church, the bride fell in labour, and was delivered of two chopping boys in less than an hour;—a circumstance which occasioned an unavoidable suspension of the ceremony.

July 21. Nothing can give so strong as well as so odious a proof of the King of Prussia's avarice, as his seizing the revenues of a national and charitable fund established by the English Merchants and Factors at Dantzick, for the support of worn-out sailors and the relief of their indigent countrymen, the records of the Old Bailey cannot furnish out the history of any robbery equal to this.

We hear that an Admiral in chief, Vice Admiral, and Rear Admiral of the Indian seas, will shortly be created.

July 22. The many French hair-dressers in this kingdom talk of having a meeting upon Blackheath, and from thence intend going to St. James's in a body with a Remonstrance, setting forth the arbitrariness of the King in presuming to have his hair cut off without the advice and consent of Parliament; also shewing the many hardships they are likely to experience by this rash step; as without doubt, in these fashionable times, most of the gentlemen in the kingdom, especially those who make their appearance at Court, will, in compliance to his Majesty, wear wigs; in which case the honorable Company of Hair-dressers will be out of employ; as it is well known that not one in a thousand of them are versed in the art of peruke making.

Sir Walter Raleigh remembers observes, that if the art of tyranny and oppression were lost to the world, and only the History of Harry the Eighth preserved, a perfect picture of tyranny would be exhibited in the character of that prince. If Sir Walter Raleigh lived now, he would be convinced that his Majesty of Prussia as far exceeds all other princes in the arts of cruelty, chicanery, oppression, fraud, injustice, and every species of kingly wickedness, as our Harry the Eighth surpassed his contemporaries in the vulgar arts of despotism.

Lord Sandwich lately said, that in two years more he hoped to render the Navy of this kingdom, in such a condition, that without keeping in pay half the land forces we have at present, we might defy the power of all Europe, though leagued together. This conveys to us the pleasing idea of his Lordship's not intending to quit his present station, since it is well known, no one is better qualified for it.

LONDON, August 2. 1773.

A proposal has been laid before the Earl of Dartmouth, for abolishing the different forms of government in America, and forming them into one; New-York, as it is centrical, to be the metropolis, and each province to send Representatives in the manner of our counties. Some other proposals were made at the same time for producing a reconciliation, and which is hoped will be attended to.

Last Saturday passed the Seal, a grant of a pension of 500l. per annum to ——— Cornwall, Esq; out of the revenue duty, or custom of four one-half per cent, at Barbadoes, and the Leeward islands, to hold the same during his life.

It is with particular pleasure we can assure the public, that what the people of England have so long wished for, is likely to happen; We mean, that which has been so long and so often prayed for, in the petitions and remonstrances &c. &c. that his Majesty would be pleased to take the Patriots round his Throne. His Majesty has been doing this by degrees for some time past; He first took Mr. Wedderburne, that great Patriot of all Patriots, near his Throne; then another, and another, and another. He has now taken Mr. Cornwall; and is proceeding, we are confidently informed, to take more. When they will be all there, (as they all will) how happy will it be for this nation! The people have long prayed that his Majesty would suffer the Patriots to come near his Throne, and his Majesty, like a good and kind Father, is calling up the Patriots as fast he can.

A correspondent observes that the patriots, now they have gained influence at Court, will use their best endeavours to restore two unfortunate Brothers and their Consorts to favour.

Aug. 7. Her Majesty having had a pretty good Night, was this Morning much better.

The Queen's Indisposition was so sudden as greatly to alarm all her Royal Family and Dependents, but happily is not likely to be attended with any bad Consequences.

'Tis said Sir Francis Bernard, Baronet, of Nettlebam, a Dr. Calf, and some others of the same stamp, have lately made an attempt on Administration to get the eastern parts of the Massachusets-Bay set off from that Province! which tract of country, together with Mount Desert, (an Island some time since granted to Sir Francis) they wished to have erected into a new Government; and of which the Baronet pleased himself with the thoughts of being the first Governor.

Circular letters have been sent to the different Houses of Assembly in North-America, and a perfect union is established over the whole continent. The spirit of Liberty has diffused itself in every province, and a unanimity fatal to Despotism prevails.

We are credibly informed that three of the men of war now fitting out for sea at Portsmouth, are destined for North America, and that they are to be in readiness for sailing by the beginning of next month.

Aug. 7. By Letters from Warsaw of July 15th, we learn, "That M. Romanzow had attacked and beaten the Grand Visir, that the loss of the Turks consisted of 15,000 killed on the field of battle, and 5000 made prisoners; that they abandoned to the conquerors 150 pieces of cannon, with all their tents, baggage, and military chest."——Another letter from Warsaw of July 21st, "confirms the victory gained by Marshal Romanzow over the Turks near Silistria; on which occasion the latter are said to have lost 40,000 men; but that the brave General Weissman was killed by a cannon shot."

The Hanoverians are so incensed at one of the House of Strelets, being appointed Governor of Hanover, that they daily threaten to revolt.—The Prince of Brunswick is so incensed, that he is treating with France as Generalissimo of their army.

We have it from the most authentic quarter, that as soon as the three great united Powers have settled the division of Poland (which will be two months yet) they will march over to England to take possession of it in like manner, and in like manner divide it; his Britannic Majesty having so long ago as March last assured the said three powers, that, "let them do what they please he would not meddle with them."

LONDON, August 11.

We hear a scheme is on foot, for every province in North America, to furnish a sufficient number of guard ships, for the defence of the colonies, to be manned and victualled at their separate expence.

NEW-YORK, SEPTEMBER, 30.

Late last night arrived the ship Earl of Dunmore, Capt. Lawrence, by whom we have a confirmation of Count Romanzow's having beat the Grand Vizier, but, finding it impossible to maintain his cavalry, had repassed the Danube:—That all connections was to be broken off with Portugal:—The Physicians at Versailles had declared the King of France past recovery:—The city of Bagdat was taken from the Turks by the Persians, which corroborates what was lately inserted in this Paper, an alliance between the Russians and Persians to destroy the Turks.

Mr. Crabb Bolton, chairman of the India company, carried his point in the India House, a few days ago, when it was determined that tea should be sent to America; he was opposed in very elegant and cogent terms by the Duke of Richmond, who is in the highest esteem in the City, the directors have not yet determined upon the time and manner of sending it.

A Letter from London says, the Emperor of Germany has now in the Field an Army of 150,000 Men, and is daily raising Recruits, and tho' he is himself at the Head of a powerful Army on the Turkish Frontiers, has sent Orders for the famous General Laudon to set out for Semlin to take the Command of an Army of 80,000 Men encamped at that Place.

The Regiments talked of for the next Relief of the Garrisons in America, are the 4th, 5th, 38th & 43d.

His Majesty has been pleased to appoint Capt. Stephen Kemble, to be Deputy Adjutant General upon this Establishment, vice the Hon. Colonel Richard Maitland deceased, with the Rank of Major in the Army; he had the Honor to kiss His Hands previous after Promotion.

We are told that one of the Persons, Governor Franklin was pleased to respite for a Month, for counterfeiting the Jersey Money, has made a Confession, by which a great Number of People are discovered to have been concerned, exclusive of those heretofore mentioned in the Papers.

Messieurs Printers & Gill,

HEARING that the new raised Artillery Company in Col. Pond's Regiment was to muster at Roxbury on Monday last, my Curiosity led me to be a Spectator, where I beheld a Company of good Bodied, well Uniformed, and well accoutred Officers, and Privates in the Field, who made a very handsome Appearance, and must certainly have been at a very considerable Expence in equipping themselves in the Soldier-like Manner in which they appeared.—Doubtless they are not a little pleased with the Grant made by the General Court (at their last Session) of Twelve Brass Field Pieces for the use of the Militia, (Two of which were designed for this Company.)—Will it not then be truly damping to their military Spirits (as well as to all others who are convinced of the importance of Being at all times in a proper Condition for Defence) if they should hear that after a Law has solemnly passed the several Branches of the Legislature, and nothing further remains to be done but a punctual fulfilment thereof—the very Gentleman who motioned the matter by Message, should procrastinate the necessary steps of procuring these field Pieces?—And I would ask—if after the Governor's recommending to the Assembly the making proper Provision for the furnishing the Artillery Companies with field pieces—his recommendation attended to—a Law enacted for the same purpose—the Commissary General therein impowered and directed to purchase them "as soon as conveniently may be"—If the Governor should after all this refuse or neglect to give a warrant for the drawing the Money needful for the purchasing of them out of the Treasury, would not it appear very inconsistent conduct?—(Such however it is feared is too truly the case) And if added to this, it should appear that altho repeatedly requested by the House of Representatives (during the last Session of the General Court) to inform them of the state of the Province Powder, which there then was, and now perhaps is too much reason to apprehend very deficient, (and it may be even so in his own Opinion too,) I say if this also has been neglected, altho' requested as before mentioned, yet perhaps Philanthes, A, B, C, or some other of his E—y's vindicators, will attempt to reconcile such Conduct with a regard for the advancement of the Militia, the safety of the Province, and his Majesty's Service!!

Octob. 1. D.K.

To the PUBLICK.

WHEREAS some Person has been so kind as to secure from the original Owner a very handsome SILVER MOUNTED PISTOL, with a Lion's Face at the Butt, a Trophy Side-piece, Coat of Arms on the Thumb-piece, principal Figures four Grotesque Heads, Maker's Name W. Bentley; thereby discovering those principles of Honour and Generosity, which are undoubtedly characteristick of the Person; the former Owner thinks himself in Gratitude bound to an attempt to some small Retaliation for so great a Kindness as the wrestling from his Hands so dangerous an Instrument, to acquaint said Person that as the Fellow to it is still in his own Hands, he will with the greatest Pleasure relinquish it to him, that thereby the Pair may be complete, and he hopes an Opportunity of acknowledging his Benefactor; or if the worthy Gentleman should prefer a more Honorable Method of obtaining it, he is desired to leave a Card with the Printers, appointing a Time and Place for equally contesting the Point, in a Way more consistent with those Sentiments of Honour, which, it is to be presumed, actuated him in procuring the other. The Owner will meet him with the other, and consent that the Pair shall be the Palm of Victory: If neither of these shall be consistent with the Gentleman's Modesty and Delicacy, the Advertiser is compelled with the warmest Sense of Gratitude which so justly inflames his Breast, and the desire of expressing it Personally to his Benefactor, to offer a Reward of TEN DOLLARS to any Person who shall give Information of him, so that Matters may be duly adjusted, and all Favours acknowledged.

Messieurs Edes & Gill,

You are desired to publish Part of a Dialogue between A, B, C and T. Your's E.

A, B, C.—GOOD-Morrow Sir, I hope your G—— is well?

T.—I Thank you dear Sir, as well as you can suppose I can be under my present Embarrassments; for I can assure you that it is a trying Day with me—every Body it seems is turning against me. Alas! What shall I do?

A. &c.—I really feel for you; I ever had, and still have a most endearing Affection for you; I shall therefore Aid and Assist you all in my Power; my Head and Pen, according to my Promise, shall still be employed for you.

T.—Dear Sir, your repeated Promise is very obliging.—But in what Way is there a probability that you can assist me? The People seem to be almost all against me, and upon Reflection methinks they have too much Reason to be so, for certainly my L—t were very severe; their malignity is so obvious, that I cannot conceive what we can now say—all our writing in Draper's Paper (where I know you have often done your Part well!) seems to have little or no Effect.

A. You must not despond Sir, but endeavour to keep up your Spirits; and I can assure you that you have still some trusty Friends.—I could name several who live near me—and it would not be amiss to take Notice of them—bestowing a Commission upon an obsequious Man who has nothing beside to recommend him, may fastly secure him to you—You may do something in this Way yourself.—I will again try the Force of my Pen; and altho' you may feel conscious of guilt, I will plead hard that Allowances ought to be made for human Frailties,—and that you certainly "must have been more or less than man," not to have been irritated by such "shocking Provocations" as were offered you; and with this I hope to take in some.—After I have strove to make them believe that they now allow others to "carry their Brains,"—I shall advise them "to throw off their Leading-Strings and think soberly for themselves."—I shall then advance something that looks Whigish. By such Craftiness perhaps I may catch some.—Further, I shall advise them "not to give up the important Cause in Controversy with the Parent State." And this I know you will dispense with; especially if it can be made a Handle of for our Purpose. I may then safely hint, that though "you desired an Alteration in our Constitution," it was only "for the Good of this People." Further, I shall mention that you have served your Country "in various important Departments" in Time past, and shall wind up with telling them, that "I am a Well-wisher to the utmost Degree of Liberty in Individuals, that is consistent with the public Safety"; and altho' after I advise them to think for themselves, strongly to inculcate upon them, that thinking, judging and acting with Freedom, has at this Day "a baneful Influence on Military as well as Civil Subordination—on the Order of our Churches," &c. may seem a paradox to some, yet no matter if it answer the end in view.

T. This pleases me much my dear Sir, and when I find that you are so well calculated to act so multifariously, it brings to my mind the following words of Pope (with a little variation.)

"A man the State's whole Thunder born to wield
"And shake, the Church, the Senate, and the Field."

But I am not without fears Sir, that you may be discovered, and it may not appear altogether in Character I must confess, for one of your Cloth to Dabble in News-Papers.

A. You are Right Sir, but I am very cautious; and although I have often wrote as you very well know, according to my promise, I have not as yet been discovered.

T. Happy for you, Dear Sir, I wish I could say so as to myself—But O! the Treachery! I expected not to have been discovered neither—but pray how do you conduct in this matter?

A. I write as living at a distance—far in the Country—as one unknown—a stranger to those I write of, or to, or, as in the present Case, A, B, C.

T. Very well, Dear Sir, I wish you may now succeed, although I must confess I have but little hope—However, should you or should you not, I shall retain a grateful sense of your kind endeavors to serve me, and will provide for all such friends as you may recommend.

Messieurs PRINTERS.

FROM a late sneer in the public prints, no doubt inserted by some staunch friend to government, I am induced to suspect that patriotism is a vice. Certain it is that nothing can be holden in higher contempt at the court of that monarch of whose virtue we have had such pompous accounts. Forty-four of the patriots, says the writer, now surround the throne. Sincerity, I suspect, holds a place not very distant from patriotism in our Sovereign's esteem: I have more than once listened with indignation and supreme contempt at the reading the pious proclamation against immorality & prophaneness in our courts. Can any one suppose a man in earnest for the suppression of immorality, whose reign began with a breach of friendship with every supporter of the rights of his people? How short a season did the faithful, the incomparable Mr. PITT possess his favor! What virtue or regard to public faith was there, in patching up a wretched bargain with France, leaving her at perfect liberty to turn all her force against that magnanimous hero that rescued his hereditary dominions from actual subjection to her? What gratitude to the brave Ferdinand who seem'd ordain'd by Heaven to restore the glory of his house, if a boy of the petty dukedom of Strelitz, is sent over to govern him? In fine, what man of honor and principle in one department or other, has had the least favorable notice in the present reign? And on the other hand, what traitor, murderer, sodomite, and even seducer of his subjects into the service of the natural enemies of his people, has not been countenanced and sustained! If these be virtues it is a truly virtuous age, and we have had the honor of producing a crop of saints, who have as nearly imitated this great example as times and circumstances could possibly admit. SCEPTICUS.

LONDON, August 12.

Orders, we hear, have been given for the immediate fitting out a fleet to sail to Boston, to answer the prayers of the Committee who are making so much disturbance in that town.

PHILADELPHIA, September 29.

Extract of a Letter from London, August 4.

"The East-India Company have come to a resolution to send 600 Chests of tea to Philadelphia, and the like quantity to New-York and Boston, and their intention, I hear, is to have ware-house's, and sell by public sale four times a year, as they do here. Capt. Cook was offered part of that for Philadelphia, but refused it. I suppose they will charter ships to take it in, as here is enough that will be glad of the freight. What will be the consequence when it arrives, all your side the water I know not; but suppose it is landed you will hardly let it be sold. John Inglis, Joseph Wharton, junr. and Joshua Brown, are the commissioners with you."

Another letter from London, says, "I do not understand the East-India company have got any ships to carry their tea to America."

A letter from New-York, says "600 chests of tea are ordered by the East-India House for your place, 600 for this, and 300 for Boston. Our London Captains have refused taking it, and I hope yours will follow their example. Their owners have commended them. Some ships will no doubt be hired, to transport it hither. Whether it may be landed or not, I will not take upon me to say, if it is, I hope no purchaser will offer for it. I am told that it is to be exposed at vendue as soon as it comes."

We are assured the above is a scheme of Lord North's, to whom an application was made by the East-India Directors, the last session of Parliament, to bring in a bill for the repeal of the American tea act, as they found the merchants on this side the Atlantic, had virtue enough to forego their profit, stand to their agreement, and did not purchase or import any tea, which he absolutely refused; and being a great schemer, struck out the plan of the East-India company's sending this article to America, hoping thereby to out-wit us, and to establish that act effectually, which will for ever after be pleaded as precedent for every imposition the parliament of Great-Britain shall think proper to saddle us with.

"It is much to be wished that the Americans will convince Lord North, that they are not YET READY to have the yoke of slavery rivited about their necks, and send back the tea to whence it came.

We hear from Preston in Connecticut, that a very violent Fever raged in the first Parish of that Place from July to September, & is now spreading in that Town and some of the Towns adjacent—Fifteen Persons died within the Compass of two Miles—above 100 have been sick, and upwards of 30 lay sick the 17th of September with the Fever, some very dangerous.

From Dighton we hear, that about 8 o'clock in the evening of the 13th ult. Mr. James Tew, a lad 13 years of age, son of Mr. Henry Tew, of that place, fell down dead as he was walking from the shore, home; his brother being a little before him, at first thought he only stumbled, but observing that he did not rise, went back and found him breathless. He was never known to have the least sign of a fit; but had always been remarkably healthy and hardy.

We hear that a Sloop belonging to Scituate, and bound from Kennebeck to Boston, loaded with Lumber, was stranded on Hampton Beech last Saturday Morning, when two Men and one Woman took to the Boat, but were all lost. Two other Men and a Woman are also missing. So that four Men and two Women have, by this melancholy Accident, lost their Lives. Two Men, by staying on board the Wreck, were saved.

The Falmouth Packet, Capt. Crocker, bound from Falmouth to this Place, laden with Rum, Sugar, &c. was cast away in the Storm on Saturday night, and the greatest Part of her Cargo lost. The Vessel saved.

It is said that a Vessel was also drove ashore last Saturday, on Plumb Island.

A Boat belonging to Beverly, which went out last Friday, with five Men on board, to fish in the Bay, was not returned Yesterday; and it is much feared that she was lost in the Storm last Saturday, and all the Men perished.
